JFEO Concept

"Joint forcible entry operations take full advantage of forward presence, a mix of basing options, and operational and strategic maneuver in order to gain and maintain access to ensure entry. Joint forcible entry operations employ distributed operations to attack from multiple directions and dimensions throughout the battlespace. The net result will be a coordinated attack to overwhelm the adversary and achieve the desired effects before the adversary has time to react, thus ensuring conditions for follow-on operations or achieving end state for a singular operation."

Sec Def's Speed Goals

- "10 – 30 – 30"
  - Defense News April 12, 2004
  - U. S. Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld challenged the military services to structure themselves to deploy to a distant theater in 10 days, defeat an enemy within 30 days, and be ready for an additional fight within another 30 days.
  - Objective shaped by Pentagon's classified 2003 "Operational Availability Study"
  - Objectives are the new gauge that all concepts and future investments will be measured.
